New Work in Intellectual History: A Project Development Workshop Series

Testing the viability of future projects and fleshing out their substantive details is an essential part of drafting new proposals. Yet owing to the pressures of the job market as well as demands of various ongoing commitments, early career scholars rarely come by opportunities outside their supervisory teams or small circles of usually already familiar colleagues to rigorously discuss or receive more extensive criticism on their plans for future research, let alone to speak or defend their ideas publicly before presenting them at job interviews or similar settings.

This series of events by the International Society for Intellectual History (ISIH) is therefore designed to offer platforms for scholars working in intellectual history to discuss and develop proposals for new projects and funding applications. The line-up of speakers includes late-stage PhD candidates, post-docs, and early-career lecturers on fixed-term contracts, many of whom are currently on the job market. Scholars at all career stages are welcome, and indeed encouraged, to attend and participate in discussion.

Each speaker is allocated 30 minutes, of which no more than 10 minutes should be dedicated to outlining their project proposals, leaving plenty of time for questions and discussion. Project abstracts will be made available to registered participants, speakers, and attendees alike; registration is required in order to gain access to abstracts and meeting links. Please register here. Any further questions should be directed to Dr. Shiru Lim at shiru.lim@eui.eu.

NB: This series features speakers from seven different time zones. In an attempt to accommodate this, start times are given in all the time zones that session's speakers are in. Times in the schedule are given in the highlighted time zones, which differ depending on the day.

26 August at 14:00 CET / 13:00 BST

13:00-13:05	Welcome & housekeeping by session chair (Shiru Lim)
13:05-13:35	Sophie Scott-Brown (University of East Anglia), The Human Conditional. Plurality and Uncertainty in Fifties Britain
13:35-14:05	Ben Mueser (European University Institute), The Roma and the Territorial State: Travelling Peoples in the History of Political Thought
14:05-14:30	Break
14:30-15:00	Tania Shew (University of Manchester), Towards a Transnational History of Sex Striking and Birth Striking
15:00-15:30	Morgan Golf-French (University of Oxford), Interpreting West Africa in the European Enlightenment
15:30-16:00	Valentina Mann (University of Cambridge), Political Imagination and the Social Sciences in Post-Unification Italy, 1861-1939
16:00	End session

2 September at 18:00 AEST / 10:00 CET / 09:00 BST

10:00-10:05	Welcome & housekeeping by session chair (Shiru Lim)
10:05-10:35	Paige Donaghy (University of Queensland), 'The history of that obscure viscus': Knowledge about the Placenta in Early Modern Europe
10:35-11:05	Sven Altenburger (University of Göttingen), Visions of Social Democracy. Ideas and Institutions in Germany and America, c.1890-1925
11:05-11:30	Break
11:30-12:00	Leah Downey (Harvard University), In the Long Run: Towards a Political Theory of Policymaking
12:00-12:30	Frank Ejby Poulsen (University of Copenhagen), Privacy in Early Modern Political Thought
12:30-13:00	Floris Solleveld (Katholieke Universiteit Leuven), Metacultures: A Conceptual History of Cultural Comparisons from Late Enlightenment to the Interwar Period
13:00	End session

9 September at 19:00 BST / 15:00 BRT & ART / 14:00 EST / 13:00 CDT

14:00-14:05	Welcome & housekeeping by session chair (Jin-Woo Choi, Princeton University)
14:05-14:35	Ankita Banerjee (King's College London), Mukti's Place in South Asian History: A Critical Reflection of Rabindranath Tagore's Ideal of Freedom
14:35-15:05	Gustavo Dalaqua (Universidade Estadual do Paraná/Centro Brasileiro de Análise e Planejamento), Decolonial Democracy
15:05-15:35	Ibrahim Khan (University of Chicago), The Problem of Defining Aggression in International Law
15:35-16:00	Break
16:00-16:30	Charlotte Kiechel (Yale University), Reclaiming Third Worldism: Encountering its Limits and Possibilities
16:30-17:00	Jerónimo Rilla (Universidad de Buenos Aires), A History of State Personifications: From Hobbes' Leviathan to Sarmiento's Facundo
17:00-17:30	Peter Thompson (Science History Institute), Trailing Blood: A Modern History of Hunting and Violence across the Species Barrier
17:30	End session

16 September at 17:00 AEST / 10:00 EEST / 09:00 CET

09:00-09:05	Welcome & housekeeping by session chair (Elias Buchetmann, European University Institute)
09:05-09:35	Juliette Gout (University of Queensland/University of New South Wales), Women's International Thought in the English Enlightenment
09:35-10:05	Goran Gaber (École de Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales), Outlines for a Political History of Critique, 1500-1700
10:05-10:30	Break
10:30-11:00	Eva Schalbroeck (Utrecht University), A Global Microhistory of Missionary Practices and Cross-Cultural Contacts in Colonial Central Africa
11:00-11:30	Juha Haavisto (European University Institute), William Temple's Religious Views
11:30-12:00	Carlos Perez Crespo (University of Hamburg), The Political Theory of Fascism: Sergio Panunzio on the Italian State and Constitution
12:00	End session