

The International Society for Intellectual History is pleased to invite you to our new seminar series, Women in Intellectual History, which will take place in Autumn/Winter 2021.

Women thinkers and their writings are still underrepresented in the discipline of intellectual history. Despite decades-long efforts at canon-busting, research agendas and teaching curricula alike attest that much work remains to be done to counteract the bias of gendered historiographies. As a prominent meeting place for practitioners of the discipline in all stages of their careers and from various parts of the world, ISIH provides an ideal forum for the discussion of recent work in this crucial area of research.

Through a series of online meetings in autumn and winter 2021, featuring selected presentations and commentary followed by discussion, early career researchers active in the field of women's intellectual history – across different specialisations, historical periods and geographical boundaries – will be able to connect with each other and with senior scholars with matching expertise.

Meetings will take place online via Zoom, every other Thursday from 4–6pm (CET).

21 October 2021

Emily Steinhauer (German Historical Institute London): Before the Feminine Mystique: Women, Work and Being an Intellectual in British Exile, ca. 1930–63

David Loner: Women Analytic Philosophers, 'Originality' and Ideologies of Empire, 1932–72

Respondent: Kimberly Hutchings (Queen Mary University of London)

4 November 2021

Elisavet Papalexopoulou (European University Institute): Radical Conservatives: Roxandra Stourdza, Religious Mysticism and a pan-European Christian Empire

Marie Láníková (Masaryk University): Women's Agency, Solidarity, and Expertise in the Czechoslovak Women's Union, 1967–89

Respondent: Zsófia Lóránd (University of Cambridge)

ISIH Online Seminar: Women in Intellectual History

18 November 2021

Angélica Beghini (University of São Paulo): *Women of Letters in the São Paulo's Art Museum:
Two Portraits from the 18th Century*

Nicolai von Eggers (Aarhus University): Female Political Thinkers in the French Revolution

Respondent: Hannah Dawson (King's College London)

2 December 2021

Turni Chakrabarti (The George Washington University): The Literary Legacy of Swarnakumari Debi

Sophie Joscelyne (University of Sussex): Jeane Kirkpatrick and US International Thought in the 1980s

Respondent: David Armitage (Harvard University)

16 December 2021

Clare Stainthorp (Queen Mary University of London): *The Women of the Nineteenth-Century
Freethought Movement in Britain*

Tania Shew (University of Manchester): *Women's Suffrage, Political Economy and the Birth Strike
Movement in Britain and the United States, 1905-1920*

Respondent: Ann Thomson (European University Institute)

Convenor: Elias Buchetmann (University of Rostock)

Please register online here.